The Slovenian Australian Academic Association Incorporated – SAAA connects academics, researchers, students, and young entrepreneurs interested in exchange opportunities between Slovenia and Australia as well as their respective regions.

SAAA was established on the 25th of May 2015 in Melbourne, Australia, and initiated by the Slovenian Embassy in Canberra and the local community. The SAAA was launched on the 19th of June 2015 at a public event with Mr Gorazd Žmavc, Minister for Slovenians abroad, titled Slovenian Business in Australia? at the European Union Centre at RMIT University in Melbourne.

The aim of SAAA is to establish academic and academic-business collaboration between Slovenia and Australia, the European Union, South East Europe and South East Asia.

To achieve its aim, SAAA works closely with the Slovenian Australian Chamber of Commerce – SACC, the Slovenian Embassy in Canberra and the Office of the Government of the Republic of Slovenia for Slovenians Abroad. SAAA has actively begun to cooperate with the local organisations and universities in Australia, through which it obtains support and membership.

SAAA je bilo formalno ustanovljeno 25. maja 2015 v Melbournu, v državi Viktorija, na pobudo Veleposlaništva Republike Slovenije v Canberri in slovenske skupnosti v Avstraliji. SAAA je bilo javnosti prvič predstavljeno ob obisku Gorazda Žmavca, ministra za Slovence v zamejstvu in po svetu, na dogodku Slovensko podjetništvo v Avstraliji?, 19. junija 2015 v Centru Evopske unije na Univerzi RMIT v Melbournu.

Namen SAAA je krepiti akademsko in akademsko-poslovno sodelovanje med Slovenijo in Avstralijo, Evropsko unijo, jugovzhodno Evropo in jugovzhodno Azijo.

Za doseganje teh ciljev SAAA tesno sodeluje s Slovensko avstralsko gospodarsko zbornico, Veleposlaništvom Republike Slovenije v Canberri in Uradom Vlade Republike Slovenije za Slovence v zamejstvu in po svetu. On Friday, the 22nd of November, the 3rd SAAA Conference 2019: Slovenian Australian research collaboration took place at CCANESA, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, the University of Sydney.

For the first time, an annual event of the Slovenian Australian Academic Association – SAAA was co-organised in collaboration with the Association of Slovenes Educated Abroad – VTIS as well as longstanding partner the Slovenian Australian Chamber of Commerce – SACC.

The conference was opened by Ms Tanya Plibersek MP, Shadow Minister for Education and Training, Federal Member for Sydney. Opening addresses were also given by His Excellency Mr Peter Jožef Česnik, Minister for Slovenians Abroad, Office of the Government of the Republic of Slovenia for Slovenians Abroad, His Excellency Mr Jurij Rifelj, Ambassador of the Republic of Slovenia in Australia, and Mr Mark Stariha, Honorary Vice-Consul, Consulate of the Republic of Slovenia in New South Wales.

The Conference brought together 24 participants, the majority from Slovenian Australian communities in New South Wales, interstate, and New Zealand. Attendees had the opportunity to listen to 15 speakers (three of these through video from Slovenia), including two keynotes from Professor John Hajek FAHA, Professor of Italian Studies, Director, RUMACCC, University of Melbourne, SAAA Vice-President, who presented on Understanding the Demography of Slovenes and Slovene in Australia today, and Professor Sara Dolnicar, Tourism, UQ Business School, The University of Queensland, with her keynote titled Making the tourism industry more environmentally friendly.

The Conference included a morning Annual General Meeting for SAAA members, afternoon sessions and a conference dinner. In the afternoon, participants heard from academics about their work in Australia and New Zealand, how they collaborate with Slovenia and where lay the challenges and opportunities. Non-government and government organisations also presented.

Attendance at the conference was open to academics, researchers, students, entrepreneurs, and all organisations interested to learn the current knowledge exchange between Slovenia and Australia.

V petek, 22. novembra 2019, je na CCANESA-i (Centre for Classical and Near Eastern Studies of Australia), na Filozofski fakulteti Univerze v Sydneyju, potekala 3. konferenca Slovensko avstralskega akademskega društva – SAAA, naslovljena Slovensko-avstralsko znanstveno sodelovanje.

Prvič letos je bila letna konferenca SAAA organizirana v sodelovanju z Društvom v tujini izobraženih Slovencev – VTIS in dolgoletnim partnerjem Slovensko avstralsko gospodarsko zbornico – SACC.

In the name of the organising associations, I would like to express our sincere gratitude to the co-sponsors of the event: the Office of the Government of the Republic of Slovenia for Slovenians Abroad, the University of Sydney, our supporter the Embassy of the Republic of Slovenia in Canberra and to our MC for today, Ms Mateya Slobodnik. Thank you also to Social Enterprise Catering from Parliament on King for their delicious meals.

We would also like to thank you all who have taken the time to join us here today. I hope that you find today's event welcoming and inspiring!

PROF JOHN HAJEK FAHA

Professor of Italian Studies, Director of RUMACCC, University of Melbourne, SAAA Vice-President
Profesor italijanskih študij, direktor RUMACCC, Univerza v Melbournu

Prof John Hajek is Professor of Italian Studies and Director of the Research Unit for Multilingualism and Cross-cultural Communication (RUMACCC) at the University of Melbourne. He completed his university studies in Australia, Italy and the UK. He held research fellowships in the UK and Australia, before taking up a permanent post at the University of Melbourne. He is an Italianist and linguist with a broad range of research interests – including multilingualism, community languages and language maintenance, language and migration, language contact, acquisition and education. He has published extensively in all of these areas. He was born and raised in Melbourne in a mixed Slovene-Croatian family where both languages have always been spoken at home.

Understanding the demography of Slovenes and Slovene in Australia today

The Australian Census provides an important window in the many different ethnolinguistic communities resident in Australia. There is no doubt that Australia is changing - new communities and their languages continue to establish themselves over time around the country. In this presentation, using recent national census data, I look into different aspects of the Slovene community, now one of the longest established non-English-speaking migrant communities in Australia. It was never a large community and until the 1990s much data was included in larger categories. My focus is on country of birth, language, and heritage – nationally and at local level – but it also provides us with an opportunity to reflect in some smaller detail on our own lived experiences as Australians of Slovene origin, and on how the community is changing.

Prof. John Hajek je profesor italijanskih študij in direktor Raziskovalne enote za večjezičnost in medkulturno komuniciranje (RUMACCC) na Univerzi v Melbournu. Študiral je v Avstraliji, Italiji in Veliki Britaniji. Preden se je zaposlil na Univerzi v Melbournu je bil prejemnik več raziskovalnih štipendij v Veliki Britaniji in Avstraliji. Je italijanist in jezikoslovec s široko paleto raziskovalnih interesov, kot so večjezičnost, vzdrževanje jezika, odnos med jezikom in migracijami, pridobivanje jezika in jezikovno izobraževanje; s teh področij ima tudi veliko znanstvenih objav. Prof. Hajek se je rodil v Melbournu v slovensko-hrvaški družini, kjer so doma govorili oba jezika.

Razumevanje demografije Slovencev in slovenščine v današnji Avstraliji

Avstralski popis prebivalstva omogoča pomemben vpogled v številne etno-lingvistične skupnosti, ki prebivajo v Avstraliji. Brez dvoma se Avstralija spreminja, saj se znotraj nje neprestano vzpostavljajo nove skupnosti in jeziki. V tej predstavitvi bom uporabil podatke popisa prebivalstva, s katerimi bom orisal različne vidike slovenske skupnosti, ki ima enega najdaljših stažev med neangleško govorečimi skupnostmi v Avstraliji. Slovenska skupnost v Avstraliji nikoli ni bila številčno zelo velika, in do 1990-ih let je bilo veliko podatkov o tej skupnosti vključenih v ostale, večje skupnosti. V mojem delu se osredotočam na državo rojstva, jezik in dediščino – na nacionalni in lokalni ravni –, kar pa hkrati nudi priložnost za osebno refleksijo o izkušnjah Avstralcev slovenskega porekla in o tem, kako se ta skupnost spreminja.

PROF SARA DOLNICAR

Tourism, UQ Business School, The University of Queensland
Turizem, Poslovna šola UQ, Univerza v Queenslandu

Sara Dolnicar is a Professor in the Tourism Department at the UQ Business School at The University of Queensland. Since her PhD, Professor Dolnicar has worked to improve market segmentation methodology, and to test and refine empirical survey measures used in social science research. She has applied her work primarily to tourism, but has also contributed to the areas of environmental volunteering, foster care and public acceptance of water alternatives. Her current research program focuses on developing and experimentally testing interventions that trigger pro-environmental behaviour in tourists. In recognition of her achievements, she was elected a Fellow of the International Academy for the Study of Tourism, the International Association of Scientific Experts in Tourism (AIEST), and the Council for Australasian Tourism and Hospitality Education (CAUTHE). Sara currently serves the Co-Editor in Chief of one of the three leading tourism journals globally: Annals of Tourism Research. She was awarded the Travel and Tourism Research Association (TTRA) Distinguished Researcher Award in 2017; named the Slovenian Ambassador of Science in 2016, the highest honour Slovenia bestows on expatriate researchers in recognition of global excellence, impact, and knowledge transfer; and awarded a prestigious Australian Research Council Laureate Fellowship in 2019.

Making the tourism industry more environmentally friendly

The tourism industry is among the most polluting industries globally. Tourism generates eight percent of all global greenhouse emissions. Its contribution to global warming is estimated to be as high as 12.5%. The tourism industry creates some 35 million tons of waste every single year, and is exceptionally water-hungry at an average 300 litres of water used to provide accommodation for one single tourist for one night on average. An improvement is not in sight. Technological development is unlikely to bring a change in the reduction of resource use or waste generation. And the number of tourists travelling each year continues to grow, with annual growth predictions for the tourism industry at about five percent. We urgently need practical measures that can be implemented in tourism businesses that entice tourists to behave in a more environmentally friendly manner. In her keynote, Professor Dolnicar will present results from a number of field experiments, illustrating how smart interventions can dramatically change tourist behaviour for the better while at the same time saving hotel costs.

Prof. Sara Dolnicar je profesorica turizma na Poslovni fakulteti Univerze v Queenslandu. Odkar je doktorirala, prof. Dolnicar deluje na področju testiranja in razvoja empiričnih metod v družboslovnih znanostih in raziskovalnem delu. Njeno delo je osredotočeno zlasti na turizem, prispevala pa je tudi k področjem okoljskega prostovoljstva, rejništva in javnega sprejemanja vodnih alternativ. Njen trenutni raziskovalni program se osredotoča na razvoj in eksperimentalno testiranje intervencij, ki vzpodbujajo pro-okoljsko vedenje turistov. Kot priznanje za njene dosežke je bila izvoljena za članico Mednarodne akademije za študij turizma, Mednarodnega združenja znanstvenih strokovnjakov za turizem (AIEST) in Sveta za avstralsko izobraževanje v turizmu in gostoljubju (CAUTHE). Sara je trenutno glavna urednica ene od treh vodilnih revij o turizmu: Annals of Tourism Research. Leta 2017 je prejela priznanje Združenja za raziskovalce potovanj in turizma (TTRA), leta 2016 je bila imenovana za slovensko ambasadorko znanosti (najvišja čast, ki jo Slovenija izkazuje izseljenim raziskovalcem), leta 2019 pa je prejela prestižno nagrado Avstralskega raziskovalnega sveta.

Narediti turistično industrijo okolju prijaznejšo

Turistična industrija spada med najbolj onesnažujoče panoge na svetu. Turizem ustvari osem odstotkov vseh svetovnih emisij toplogrednih plinov. Ocenjuje se, da prispevek turizma k globalnemu segrevanju znaša kar 12,5%. Turistična industrija vsako leto ustvari približno 35 milijonov ton odpadkov in porabi ogromno vode; za nastanitev enega samega turista za eno noč je namreč potrebnih v povprečju 300 litrov vode. Izboljšanja ni na vidiku. Tehnološki razvoj verjetno ne bo prinesel korenitih sprememb v zmanjšanju porabe virov ali nastajanja odpadkov. Število turistov, ki potujejo vsako leto, še naprej narašča, letne napovedi rasti za turistično industrijo znašajo približno pet odstotkov. Nujno potrebujemo praktične ukrepe, ki jih turistični ponudniki lahko uporabijo za vzpodbujanje okoljevarstvenega vedenja turistov. V svojem govoru bo prof. Dolnicar predstavila rezultate raziskav, ki so potrdile učinkovitost raznih intervencij za izboljšanje okoljskega vedenja turistov in hkrati dosegle znižanje stroškov hotelskih namestitev.

MATEYA SLOBODNIK

Secretary, Slovenian Australian Chamber of Commerce – SACC
Sekretarka, SACC – Slovensko avstralska gospodarska zbornica

Mateya Slobodnik is the Secretary of the Slovenian Australian Chamber of Commerce and the NSW State Coordinator of the Slovenian Australian Academic Association. Mateya holds a Diploma in Paralegal Studies and has worked within the Australian legal industry for over 15 years. She was a teacher in International Legal and Business English in Slovenia between 2009 and 2012 to both government bodies and private companies. Completing her education in both Slovenia and Australia, and being directly exposed to the many political shifts within the two countries, led her to obtain her Masters in International Relations at the University of Sydney.

Presentation of the Slovenian-Australian Chamber of Commerce

Research collaboration between academia and industry is becoming progressively vital and important. Obtaining highly qualified employees with cutting-edge knowledge and core management proficiencies, including the interchange among tangible business challenges and accredited academic research is fast-tracking this topic between academia and industry at an even faster pace. Companies are now beginning to acknowledge and understand that this collaboration is one of the key challenges of our future. The time has come for corporate decision makers to integrate academia into their HR and business strategies which ultimately leads to a win-win situation for all involved. While universities concentrate on expanding education and creating new knowledge in existing academic fields, companies focus on mastering the trials and tribulations of competitive economic systems whilst striving for greater market success. Ms Slobodnik also provides a few pointers on how new Slovenians can engage within the Australian business arena and get themselves up front in the industry of their academic focus.

Mateya Slobodnik je sekretarka Slovensko-avstralske gospodarske zbornice in koordinatorka SAAA sekcije v Sydneyu. Mateya ima diplomo iz parapravnih študij in več kot 15 let izkušenj z delom v avstralski pravni industriji. Med letoma 2009 in 2012 je v Sloveniji poučevala pravno in poslovno angleščino v vladnih organizacijah in zasebnih podjetjih. Po končanem šolanju v Sloveniji in Avstraliji in osebnem doživetju številnih političnih premikov v obeh državah, se je odločila za magistrski študij mednarodnih odnosov na Univerzi v Sydneyju.

Predstavitev Slovensko-avstralske gospodarske zbornice

Raziskovalno sodelovanje med akademskim svetom in industrijo postaja vse bolj pomembno. Pridobitev visoko usposobljenih kadrov z vrhunskim znanjem in vodstvenimi izkušnjami, vključno z izmenjavo med oprijemljivimi poslovnimi izzivi in akreditiranimi znanstvenimi raziskavami, še dodatno poglablja to vez. Podjetja začenjajo prepoznavati to sodelovanje kot enega ključnih izzivov naše prihodnosti. Prišel je čas, da poslovneži vključijo akademike v svoje kadrovske in poslovne strategije, kar bi koristilo vsem udeležencem. Medtem ko se univerze osredotočajo na širjenje izobraževanja in ustvarjanje novih znanj na obstoječih akademskih področjih, se podjetja osredotočajo na obvladovanje preizkušenj konkurenčnih gospodarskih sistemov ter si prizadevajo za večji uspeh na trgu. Gospa Slobodnik ponuja tudi nekaj napotkov o tem, kako se lahko Slovenci vključijo v avstralsko poslovno areno in okrepijo svoj položaj znotraj izbranega akademskega področja.

DR URSA KOMAC

Senior Lecturer and Director of Academic Program – Architecture, Western Sydney University
Višja predavateljica in direktorica akademskega programa – Arhitektura, Univerza Zahodnega Sydneya

Her co-authored monograph on Bogdan Bogdanovic was published by Mudito & Co. in Barcelona and was translated into German. She has taught design studios and history at the Universitat Politecnica de Catalunya, Boston Architectural College, the University of Sydney and then became Assistant Professor at the University of Canberra. She was Visiting Fellow at the Tokyo University of the Arts, exploring connections between academia and practice. Her Observation Points in Skocjanski Zatok were nominated for Mies van der Rohe Award in 2017 and were selected for the 9th International Biennial of Landscape Architecture when James Corner was the President of the Jury. They were published in the monograph Tomorrow Landscapes by Paysage Editore in Milan in 2018. Her research interests are architecture and the city, public space, heritage and architectural education.

Terra Australis Cognita: Views of a Slovenian Australian

When the conditions of the place we live in change, the behaviour of people changes, and that causes old rules to be discarded and new rules to be created. This also applies to the way cities work. I experienced this firsthand when I moved from Ljubljana to Barcelona. For the first time I was in a city that could not work without public transport and a lot of walking. Coming from Ljubljana (hey, isn't it Slovenia - The Green Piece of Europe?) where it is practically impossible to live without a car, I started to experience the magic of city life by walking and taking metro public transport. This is even more evident in Tokyo where driving has never been easy, i.e. street parking was banned in Japan sometime after WW2. Trains are great and cycling and walking is easy within neighbourhoods, so it is not even a cool thing any more for youth in Tokyo to own a car. Instead, they perceive cars as a nuisance, a place from which it is hard to use Instagram if you are driving. When you start to use public transport, you also need to walk. How else could five seat restaurants survive in Tokyo if it was not for people walking by? Those places are invisible to motorists, so they don't exist in car dependent cities.

Dr. Urša Komac je direktorica akademskega programa za arhitekturo na Univerzi Western Sydney. Je registrirana arhitekta in krajinska arhitekta iz Slovenije, in ima doktorat iz UPC Barcelona. Delala je v pisarni Imme Jansane in ima več kot 20 let izkušenj na področju arhitekture iz Španije, Slovenije, ZDA in Avstralije. Prejela je nagrado Piranesi za delo na projektu kolesarskih poti na slovenskem krasu. Je so-avtorica znanstvene monografije o Bogdanu Bogdanoviću, ki jo je v Barceloni izdala Mudito & Co., prevedena pa je tudi v nemščino. Poučevala je oblikovalske študije in zgodovino na Politehniški Univerzi Katalonije, Arhitekturni šoli v Bostonu in Univerzi v Sydneyju, in nato postala docentka na Univerzi v Canberri. Bila je gostujoča strokovna sodelavka na Univerzi za umetnost v Tokiju, kjer je raziskovala povezave med akademskim svetom in prakso. Njeno delo Opazovalne točke v Škocjanskem Zatoku je bilo leta 2017 nominirano za nagrado Mies van der Rohe in izbrano za 9. mednarodni bienale krajinske arhitekture, kjer je žiriji predsedoval James Corner, objavljeno pa je bilo tudi v monografiji Paysage Editore Tomorrow Landscapes v Milanu leta 2018. Njeni raziskovalni interesi so arhitektura in mesto, javni prostor, dediščina in arhitekturno izobraževanje.

Terra Australis Cognita: Pogledi slovenske Avstralke

Ko se razmere v kraju, v katerem živimo, spremenijo, se tudi vedenje ljudi spremeni. Stara pravila se zavržejo in ustvarijo se nova pravila. To velja tudi za način, kako živimo v mestih. Prvič sem to izkusila na lastni koži, ko sem se iz Ljubljane preselila v Barcelono. Znašla sem se v mestu, ki brez javnega prevoza in mnogo pešačenja ne bi bilo to, kot je. Ko sem prišla iz Ljubljane, kjer je praktično nemogoče živeti brez avta (hej, ali ni Slovenia: The Green Piece of Europe?), sem čar mestnega življenja začela doživljati skozi hojo, ki je potrebna, če uporabljamo javni prevoz. To je še toliko bolj očitno v Tokyju, kjer je zaradi starodavnih ozkih ulic vožnja z avtomobilom milo rečeno težavna. Brezplačno parkiranje na ulici je bilo na Japonskem prepovedano nekje po 2. svetovni vojni. Ker so vlaki in metroji na Japonskem brezhibni, predstavljata kolesarjenje in hoja del življenja japonskih mest. Za mlade v Tokyju dandanes ideja, da bi imeli svoj lasten avto, sploh ni več kul. Namesto tega dojemajo avtomobile bolj kot nadlego: če ne drugega, že zato, ker je voznik, ki je aktiven na Instagramu, precej nevarna zadeva. Kdor začne uporabljati javni prevoz, bo tudi začel neizogibno več hoditi peš. S tem pa se odprejo nevidne plasti mesta. Kako bi v Tokyju sicer preživele male restavracije z eno samo mizo in petimi stoli, če ne bi v njih večerjali mimidoči osamljeni pešci? Takšni magični, drobni kraji so voznikom nevidni, zato jih v avtomobilsko odvisnih mestih preprosto ni.

DR GREGOR URBAS

Barrister, Australian Capital Territory; Visiting Fellow, ANU Cybercrime Observatory
Pravnik, Teritorij glavnega mesta Avstralije; gostujoči raziskovalec, Observatorij za kibernetsko kriminaliteto, Avstralska Narodna Univerza

Dr Gregor Urbas is an Australian lawyer and former legal academic. Until 2018, he was an Associate Professor of Law at the University of Canberra, teaching Criminal Law and Procedure, Cybercrime and Evidence Law. He has written extensively on criminal justice issues. He previously held positions at the Australian National University, the Australian Institute of Criminology and the Law Council of Australia, and was a visitor at Simon Fraser University in Vancouver, Canada, and the Tilburg Institute for Law, Society and Technology in the Netherlands.

Cybercrime and Challenges for Law Enforcement

Information and communications technologies (ICT) enable cybercrime by offering offenders a range of exploitable features: scale, accessibility, anonymity, portability, global reach and an absence of capable guardianship. However, while law enforcement responses remain grounded within jurisdictional and other legal boundaries, police are to some extent able to draw upon the same features in combatting cybercrime. For example, covert investigations can be facilitated by police posing as online offenders or potential victims, thereby identifying some offenders and infiltrating criminal groups. More advanced evidence-gathering techniques such as the "Sweetie 2.0" chatbot developed by the Dutch non-government organisation, Terre des Hommes (TdH) provide further possibilities. This involves an online avatar posing as a young Filipina girl available for webcam online sexual interactions, able to engage in an automated way through chats with potential offenders. The earlier version was manually operated by TdH researchers, and the recorded chats and other details were given to police, with some prosecutions resulting. The legality of this method of evidence collection was discussed in the Sweetie 2.0 Report published by Terre des Hommes in 2016 and the subsequent Sweetie 2.0 book in 2019.

Dr. Gregor Urbas je avstralski pravnik in nekdanji pravni akademik. Do leta 2018 je bil izredni profesor prava na Univerzi v Canberri, kjer je poučeval kazensko pravo, kibernetsko kriminaliteto in dokazno pravo. Obširno je pisal o vprašanjih kazenskega pravosodja. Pred tem je deloval na Avstralski Narodni Univerzi (ANU), Avstralskem inštitutu za kriminologijo (AIC) in Avstralskem pravnem svetu, bil pa je tudi gostujoči profesor na Univerzi Simon Fraser v Vancouvru v Kanadi in na Tilburg Inštitutu za pravo, znanost in tehnologijo (TILT) na Nizozemskem.

Kibernetska kriminaliteta in izzivi za kazenski pregon

Informacijsko komunikacijske tehnologije omogočajo kibernetsko kriminaliteto, saj storilcem tovrstnih kaznivih dejanj ponujajo številne prednosti, kot so dostopnost, prenosljivost, globalni doseg, in odsotnost ustreznega in učinkovitega nadzora. Kljub temu, da se lahko policisti na ta kazniva dejanja odzovejo zgolj znotraj meja njihove pristojnosti, lahko v določeni meri izkoristijo te iste lastnosti v boju zoper kibernetsko kriminaliteto. Prikrito preiskovanje jim na primer lahko olajša delo tako, da se policija na spletu predstavlja bodisi kot storilec kaznivega dejanja ali pa kot potencialna žrtev. Na ta način lahko prepoznajo storilce kaznivih dejanj ali se infiltrirajo v kriminalne združbe. Naprednejše tehnike zbiranja dokazov, kot je pogovorni bot (ang. chatbot) „Sweetie 2.0“, ki ga je razvila nizozemska nevladna organizacija Terre des Hommes (TdH), ponujajo dodatne možnosti. Ta bot je spletni avatar mlade filipinske deklice, ki lahko avtomatizirano sodeluje v klepetu s potencialnimi storilci kaznivih dejanj ter jim ponuja spolno interakcijo preko spletne kamere. Prejšnjo različico tega orodja so raziskovalci TdH upravljali ročno, posnete klepete in druge podrobnosti interakcije pa so predali policiji, ki je na podlagi pridobljenih dokazov lahko ukrepala in začela kazenski pregon. Zakonitosti te metode zbiranja dokazov obravnava poročilo Sweetie 2.0, ki ga je leta 2016 objavila organizacija Terre des Hommes, ter monografija nova Sweetie 2.0, ki je izšla v letu 2019.

Cooperation between ASEF and SAAA – building bridges between Slovenia and the world

The American Slovenian Education Foundation (ASEF) was founded in 2014 by Dr. Jure Leskovec and Dr. Peter Rožič. ASEF creates opportunities for highly talented students to realize their potential to the fullest and builds an active community of educators and leaders of excellence, character, and service. ASEF aims at enhancing cooperation between Slovenian education activities in Slovenia and around the globe. ASEF centres itself around three core values: academic excellence, character formation, and dedicated service. The Foundation aims to promote, together with its partner institutions, the Slovenian language and culture around the world. The major ASEF program is the Junior Fellowship program, which enables young, talented and ambitious intellectuals a 10-week research visit in Slovenia and the USA, Canada, UK, Australia, and New Zealand, as well as active participation in the ASEF Society of Fellows programs and activities for three years. ASEF Society of Fellows organizes activities connecting fellows with each other as well as with academic and industrial communities, which promotes ASEF, its mission and core values. Key activities of the ASEF include organizing a speaker series, team building events, numerous informational and educational visits for ASEF students visiting Slovenia, visits to leading companies and meetings with business people for ASEF Fellows in Slovenia throughout the year. A total of 95 fellows have successfully completed ASEF fellowships programs since the program launched in 2014.

Sodelovanje Fundacije ASEF s SAAA – gradnja mostov med Slovenijo in svetom

ASEF (Ameriško-slovenska izobraževalna fundacija) je bila ustanovljena v letu 2014 na pobudo dr. Jureta Leskovca in dr. Petra Rožiča. ASEF ustvarja priložnosti za nadarjene študente, ki jim omogočajo uresničitev potenciala v polnosti in gradi skupnost učiteljev in voditeljev, ki so akademsko odlični, odlični v značaju in odlični v služenju skupnosti. Temeljne vrednote ASEF-a so akademska odličnost, gradnja značaja in služenje skupnosti. V ta namen si ASEF prizadeva okrepiti sodelovanje na akademskem področju med Slovenci doma in po svetu. Fundacija promovira, skupaj s partnerskimi institucijami, slovenski jezik in slovensko kulturo po celem svetu. Temeljni program ASEF-a je Junior Fellowship program, ki omogoča mladim ambicioznim in talentiranim intelektualcem triletno štipendijo za 10-tedenske raziskovalne obiske v Sloveniji, ZDA, Kanadi, Avstraliji, Novi Zelandiji in Združenem Kraljestvu, ter aktivno udeležbo v programih in dogodkih Združenja ASEF štipendistov. Združenje štipendistov organizira aktivnosti, ki povezujejo štipendiste med sabo ter z drugimi akademskimi ter gospodarskimi skupnostmi, ki sledijo temeljnim vrednotam ASEF-a. Glavne aktivnosti Združenja ASEF štipendistov so večerna predavanja, dogodki, ki gradijo skupnost, informativna ter izobraževalna srečanja, bralni znanstveni krožki, pogovori s podjetniki, itd. Od leta 2014 dalje je 95 štipendistov uspešno opravilo ASEF-ov program štipendiranja.

Project Interception - boosting entrepreneurship in EU, Australia and Asia (recorded video)

The European commission has granted the Erasmus+ project Interception, of which the Entrepreneurship Movement Club (EMC), based in Slovenia, is a main applicant, and the Slovenian Australian Academic Association (SAAA) is one of the partners. Interception is a two-year project that aims at strengthening social inclusion through inclusive entrepreneurship. The project takes into account that socially excluded youth are under-represented and disadvantaged in entrepreneurship. Increasing entrepreneurship among them provides an opportunity for their social inclusion. Being socially excluded, these youth usually face greater barriers than the mainstream population. The goal of the project is to educate a new generation of entrepreneurship coaches who would be able to advance entrepreneurship activities among socially excluded youth as well as to improve cooperation in entrepreneurship-boosting activities among partner countries. Besides Slovenia and Australia, partners are based in Lithuania, the UK, Malaysia and Indonesia, representing a great diversity of experiences needed to ensure quality project goals.

Andrej Korpar vodi Klub podjetniškega gibanja – EMC s sedežem v Sloveniji, ki izvaja interaktivna in prilagojena usposabljanja ter treniranje podjetniškega razvoja in vodstvenih veščin. Projekt Prestrezanje (ang. Interception), spodbujanje podjetništva v EU, Avstraliji in Aziji
(posnet video)

Evropska komisija je odobrila projekt Prestrezanje programa Erasmus+, katerega nosilec je Klub za podjetniško gibanje – EMC s sedežem v Sloveniji, Slovensko avstralsko akademsko združenje – SAAA pa je eden izmed partnerjev. Prestrezanje je dvoletni projekt, katerega cilj je okrepiti vključenost socialno izključenih mladih v podjetništvo. Ti mladi se srečujejo z večjimi ovirami kot večinsko prebivalstvo, povečanje podjetništva med njimi pa ponuja priložnost za večjo socialno vključenost. Cilj projekta je izobraziti novo generacijo podjetniških trenerjev, ki bi lahko spodbudili podjetniške dejavnosti med socialno izključenimi mladimi, pa tudi okrepiti sodelovanje v podjetjih, ki spodbujajo tovrstno podjetništvo. Poleg partnerjev iz Slovenije in Avstralije v projektu sodelujejo partnerji s sedeži v Litvi, Veliki Britaniji, Maleziji in Indonezij, ki preko svojih raznolikih izkušenj prispevajo k uresničevanjem ciljev projekta.
